

REFLECTION : INTUITION

I bet you already know your intuition, so hopefully something here deepened your relationship with her. Cause honey, how many times have you passed on her messages and then you wished you hadn't?!?

- How does intuition get your attention?
- How often do you act upon what she offers you?
- What do you resist, or fear might happen, if you listened to her?
- How does it feel when you accept that your intuition is never wrong?
- What experiences in your life prove this to you?
- Where do you still override what you know?
